- So, continuing along that route, I give you my top 7 steps for immediate gout pain relief...

Drink Copious Amounts of Water - At Least 3 Litres Each Day.

This is very important because water can help your kidneys flush high uric acid from your body. In addition, water helps to prevent uric acid crystals forming in your joints which cause your gout pain.

- Missing this step out could mean that you are constantly dehydrated, and a dehydrated person is more open to gout.
- So drink lots of water for natural gout pain relief.

Eat Heaps of Cherries.

This too is key for the reason that cherries have natural antioxidant and anti-inflammatory qualities. They are known to be able to lower inflammation, and, lower uric acid levels in your blood.

Consume Between 30 to 40 Every 4 Several Hours or So During a Gout Assault.

Change Your daily diet to a Low-Purine Diet.

This is a critical element as purines are chemical compounds in your body as well as food that, when they break down, fabricate uric acid which in turn forms the urate uric acid that cause your gout symptoms.

As a result you need to stay away from high-purine food like meats, seafood, poultry, legumes and some vegetables like cauliflower, mushrooms and asparagus. And avoid alcoholic beverages, particularly beer.

Use Herbal Remedies.

Another substantial point is to use the inherent curative powers of herbs like, alfalfa, bilberry, black cohosh, burdock, buchu, and so forth. These could drive down inflammation, reduce uric acid as well as help to disperse urate crystals.
